

RESEARCH CENTRE ON ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE

Press Release For Immediate Release

Newnan, GA -- October 14, 2008 -- Brigitte's Technology Consulting and Research Firm, a virtual research environment.

To continue assisting professionals compete in a global society, the Firm will encourage professionals to pursue the next degree level and read a variety of sources that center on entrepreneurship, diversity, and technologies, including information systems (IS). As the Internet continues to evolve, serving a global market, organizational leaders and entrepreneurs will require a broad knowledge base and dedicated knowledge workers.

Brigitte's Technology Consulting and Research Firm will announce the release of new books that center on entrepreneurship with a profound focus on diversity issues or technologies. Entrepreneurs are warranted to establish a clean, energy saving environment using the Internet as a means to research and grow international businesses. Minority and female entrepreneurs using personalized information technologies (IT) might enjoy the benefits of expansion, healthcare, and retirement options.

The Firm asks authors, publishers, or publicists to donate a newly released book to the Research Centre. Journals will also be accepted. In exchange, the Firm will distribute an email to many entrepreneurs across the nation. Although the Firm cannot guarantee any sells of the book or journal, the Firm will share the primary link that accesses the preview of the book so organizational leaders and entrepreneurs might learn more about the author(s). The primary link cannot include the primary site of book resellers. If sources are sent that do not pertain to the subject, the book(s) will not be returned to the sender or announced and will become the property of the Firm.

The aim of the Research Centre on Organization Culture will be to support entrepreneurs and graduates on becoming researchers and knowledgeable leaders. For an appointment to visit the Research Centre, email brigittebrenda@aol.com in the future. The centre plans to open in early 2010. If author, publisher, or publicist accepts the Firm's offer, send a book or journal to the following address:
