DONALD JOHN TRUMP FOR US PRESIDENT

Visionary Human Capital (VHC)<sup>SM</sup> A Natural Workforce Development Action Model

Visionary Human Capital<sup>SM</sup> (VHC) emerges through reconditioning learning, thinking, and performance processes through visionary mentorship (VM) and as a result of collaborations with national and international networks that consist of private and political groups. Dr. Brenda Nelson-Porter conceived, Visionary Mentorship, in 2008, which involves securing available opportunities to assist protégés in the processes of becoming human capital. Human capital has the ability to not only conceptually discern and synthesize information derived from various disciplines, both internal and external of one's nation, but has the capabilities to apply the learning in multiple international settings using observational, research, prioritizing, team-building, and crises management skill sets. Futurist Visionary Leadership<sup>SM</sup> (FVL) entails mentoring human capital to further enhance their knowledge, skills, and interactions subsequently collaborating with the various networks whereby relevant resources are obtained and socialism and capitalism (i.e., "the social capitalist") are bridged, reassembling the political platform. Critiquing proponents and international relations, creating jobs, evaluation on-site training programs, and establishing on-site healthcare centers are measurable catalysts that can be used to emerge social capitalist networks.

The VHC model shows the extension beyond performance management in that after protégés gain resources and knowledge through visionary mentoring, Futurist Visionary Leaders (FVLs) will further analyze all relevant information along with the knowledge-level of the human capital based on local, national, and international assessments and use the findings to further transform the human capital into FVLs. Performance management has mostly embodied managers assessing in-house skills and social interactions that have prompted critical in-house attention. Assessing the cognitive abilities of human capital who has shown inner drive, confidence, and motivation to transfer future protégés into futurist leaders who should possess the capabilities to innovate and articulate multilevel conceptual and practical knowledge will help form great and creative societies that translate into natural social capitalist systems that can only be led by a Futurist Visionary Leader!
